NEWS RELEASE

Alaska Airlines Announces New Service from Mineta San José International Airport to Washington, Oregon and Montana

-- New service provides Silicon Valley's Airport with more options for travelers --

San José, Calif. – Alaska Airlines announced new service to Spokane, Washington, Redmond, Oregon and Missoula, Montana from Mineta San Jose International Airport (SJC) beginning September 2020 and March 2021, respectively. These daily flights are in addition to Alaska's nonstop service to many non-stop destinations from SJC.

"This new service demonstrates Alaska's confidence and continued commitment to the San José/Silicon Valley market during these unprecedented times," said Judy Ross, SJC Assistant Director of Aviation. "When passengers are ready to travel, they will have more flight options to the Northwest states thanks to Alaska."

"San José is an important focus city for Alaska, and we're always looking at opportunities to grow our footprint," said Brett Catlin, managing director of capacity planning and alliances. "As our guests begin to return to the skies, we believe leisure travel will play an increasingly important part of overall demand. Our additions from San José to Spokane, Redmond and Missoula are a key part of our network diversification plans."

SJC: Transforming How Silicon Valley Travels

Mineta San Jose International Airport (SJC) is Silicon Valley's airport, a self-supporting enterprise owned and operated by the City of San Jose. The airport, now in its 71st year, served nearly 15.7 million passengers in 2019, with nonstop service across North America and to Europe and Asia. SJC was America's fastest-growing major airport the past four years, based on percentage increase in scheduled passenger capacity. For more airport information, visit <https://www.flysanjose.com>.
